The STEIN EDUCATION CENTER has a long history of service to the community provided by caring staff members attuned to the needs of each child, teenager and adult participant.

In 1971, Los Niños opened the first Preschool Special Education Program in San Diego for children with autism. In 1978 Los Niños was certified as a non-public school and began serving school aged students with autism. Los Niños became the Stein Education Center in 1989, in recognition of a gift from Sam and Rose Stein. The Stein Education Center has continued to educate children who have autism and other moderate to severe disabilities using a research-based, high quality education and positive behavior intervention program.

Special Care Services, formerly known as the Stein Education Center's Recreation Program, opened in 1976. It has continued to provide day-care, after-school activities, behavioral support and social opportunities for children and young adults who have moderate to severe disabilities.

The Stein Education Center's Adult Day Programs have been serving adults who have developmental disabilities since 1980. The Adult Programs provide vocational opportunities, access to the community, socialization, self help, leisure activities and behavioral support.
